

WELSH SINGERS THRILL AUDIENCE MONDAY EVENING

R. Festyn Davies
Conducted Program
of Musical Variety.

Sixteen red-coated Irishmen under the masterful direction of the celebrated R. Festyn Davies and accompanied by their pianist, Wilfred Ahterren, presented last Monday evening in the college auditorium one of the most inspiring and most deeply appreciated concerts of choral and instrumental music presented to an audience of approximately 275 persons.

Singing from a large repertoire of 105 numbers, which included choruses, solo, and duets, the Welsh vocalists were presented by singing the well-known Welsh folk song, "March of the Men of Harlech." The items which followed were announced by Mr. Davies from the stage in the following order:

In Absence, Dudley Buck-Chorus.
Two Little Wives, Brane-Rhys Evans.

Lasten, Mary, M. H. Brane-Rhys Evans.

King of the Jolly Roger—Chorus.

Welsh version of "Song of the Jolly Roger"—Chorus.

How Van Is Mann, Hand-come—Chorus.

Dreams—Tom Egan.

Carry Me Back to Old Virginia—Chorus.

Just Singing Along, Parks—Chorus.

The Late Play—Emlyn Morley.

Coming—Emlyn Morley.

Request Numbers.

The selection committee concluded the first half of the program. After the intermission rest period, the program resumed with the following nine selections:

Pilgrims' Chorus—Wagner—Chorus.

Waltz—Dance—Moss—Morley—Wagner.

George I Was Shy—Morley—Wagner.

The Lost Chord, Brewer—Luther—Chorus.

Waltz—Dance—Moss—Morley—Wagner.

Macaulay—Wilfred Jones.

Welsh version of All Through the Night—Chorus.

Sleep Gentle Lady, H. R. Bishop—Chorus.

RELIGIOUS MOVIE COMING DEC. 13

Committee Approves Showing of "Golgotha" in Warburg Auditorium

"Golgotha" a motion picture dealing with the life of Christ, especially in the days of His Passion, will be presented in the Warburg auditorium, December 13, at 8 p. m. and evening showings. The activities committee approved the project at a meeting Friday.

A campus organization to be determined by the committee will sponsor the ticket sales and receive a share of the proceeds. Universal Producing company, an Iowa movie company, are producers and distributors of the film, and will furnish their own property and sound equipment for the showing here.

The film stresses the Passion and according to publicity release cost $500,000 to produce. Length of the showing is approximately 100 minutes. It recopies films directed by Cecil DeMille in the breadth and power of his mass cinema. A film such as this which is religious in character deserves the wholehearted support of all Warburg students and Waverly church-goers.

LIEMOHN PLANS SINGING CLASS

Twenty Students Enroll for Course in Music Fundamentals and Theory.

Twenty students have already enrolled as members of the "Singing Class" recently organized by Prof. E. Liemohn, head of the music department.

The "Singing Class" has been organized for the benefit of students who have not had opportunity to acquire themselves as thoroughly with the elements of music as they have desired. Students will be added to the class as they are added. The class will be held on Fridays at 4:10 in room 21 of Old Main.

Dr. John Miller gave a talk on "Voluntarism and the singing of the Lutheran Brotherhood of St. Paul's church, Waverly, Thursday evening, Dec. 1, in the church parlors.

SANTA CLAUS TO VISIT CAMPUS DECEMBER 15

Deutscher Verein
To Fete Students at College Party.

"Santa Claus is coming to Warburg." He will be here on Dec. 15, as one of the highlights of the Christmas party to be held at Warburg that evening. Plans will well underway for the party which promises to be one of the best of the year.

The Deutscher Verein has full charge and the president, A. C. Schumacher, has appointed program, entertainment, decoration and refreshment committees. As yet, few details have been completed. The success of the party depends on the student body, and it will provide a good time for everyone is assured. Students serving on the committee are: Program and entertainment, Norbert Augst, chairman, Theophile Doyen, Lena Debus, Charles Schmitt, Andrew Timmick, Menie Kettner, Edwin Gustafson, decorations, Roland Kretzer, chairman, Luther Meyer, Violi Goring, Edwin Schick, Emma Schick, Richard Werth, refreshment, Walter Wegmann, Norman Ritter, Hilda Ellis, Lowell Sievers, Frieda Gross.

SANDROCK RESIGNS POST LESCHENSKY TO SOLICIT AID

Sigmund Sandrock, junior from Belleure, Iowa, has resigned his position as advertising manager of the Trumpet because of his overwork.

Immanuel Leschensky, Beldersburg, Wis., junior, who has been acting as assistant advertising manager, has accepted Sandrock's resignation and has already taken over the duties of his new position.

SENIORS TO PURCHASE CLASS RINGS AND PINS

At a special meeting held Monday evening, Nov. 21, the senior class reached a decision concerning its class ring and pin. The rings and pins made of 10-carat yellow gold with hematite stone and Italian carving, will be ordered from the jewelry company through Walter Fredricks, senior class president.

Several students have already engaged skating on the Cedar river.

HOBO PARTY WELL ATTENDED

Dirty Faces, Torn Clothes
Regal Makeup for Gala College Party.

"Brother, can you spare a dime?" might be taken as the theme of the Warburg college hobo party, which was held at the Lutheran church, Nov. 23. Dirty faces, torn clothes, gummy sack dresses and other accessories prevailed throughout the evening.

Games including wild emu spinning the plates, a game called "The Game of a Grand mask contest" and the evening's noisy entertainment program were awarded by judges Dr. A. Haefner, Rev. C. Schumacher, and H. K. Baudert. The activities committee, to Eleanor Gross for her gummy sack dress and other accessories, pumpkin pie, and coffee were served for the guests. A veritable stampede broke loose later with the singing of the "Hobo" songs. There were no casualties.

Committees for the evening were: Refreshments, H. K. Baudert, chairman, Hilda Ellis, Pauline Loos, Barbara Freemueller, Ben Ahterren, and Edna Schmitt. Entertainment, Mrs. R. McKinzie, chairman, Eleanor Gross, Esther Wolff and Ben Ackerman.

Dr. Alfred Haefner recently placed two wood-carvers on display in the Waverly public library.

WILL SPONSOR CANDLE LIGHT

Pre-Theologian Society
To Have Charge of Service
at St. Paul's Church.

The Pre-theological society of Warburg will sponsor the annual Candle-light Service to be held this year in Warburg auditorium at 8:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Dec. 14.

Friedrich Bracher, president of the organization, will have charge of the services, which consist of two parts: one, a prophetic reading of Christ's coming by the Old Testament prophets and the fulfillment of this prophecy by Christ in the New Testament. As each prophesy is read a candle on one side of the altar will be lit and as the fulfillment is given, a candle on the other side of the altar will be lit. In all, 7 prophesies and seven fulfillments will be read. Several Pre-theology boys will assist Mr. Bracher with this part of the service. The student body and the congregation are invited to attend.

The Pre-theological society will meet next Sunday, Dec. 4, at 2:00 p. m. in the afternoon in Warburg hall. The topic under discussion is "Differences among the Lutheran churches."

LUTHER LEAGUE TO ENTERTAIN

College Group Invites Waverly Leaguers to Christmas Meeting

Warburg's Christmas festival began Sunday evening, Dec. 4, at the December meeting of the college Luther League with the leaguers from St. Paul's Lutheran church as guests.

Opening devotions will be led by Norman Neubauer after which the program proper will begin. Group singing of Christmas carols will be interspersed between various numbers on the program, which will include:

Soprano solo, "Gesu Bambino" by Pietro A. Von Irene Drewelow.

Trios, "Ist This Evening," Amanda Walke, Irene Drewelow, Norma Baudert.

Bartitone solo, "Nozareth," by Milton Johnson.

Piano solo, "No Sanctissima," by Spindler, Ruth Manders.

The program will be concluded by the singing of the league's closing hymn, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

Following the program, games will be played and refreshments served. The committee in charge of entertainment and refreshments were: The Norman O. O'Brien, chairman, Frederick Bracher, Ruth Billiger, and Marie Weiss.

DEBATERS LOOK FORWARD TO A BUSY SEASON

Teams for Opening
Debate Selected
by Ratings.

Debating comes into its own this year at Warburg as the heaviest schedule in the history of the school has been scheduled for the squad. Home-and-home encounters have been secured with Lutheran, Iowa State Teachers college, and tentatively with Lenox junior college, while single debates are scheduled against Columbia, Duquesne U., and Clark college.

The debate squad under the guidance of Mr. Ralph McKinzie has been training intensively for the opening debate against Columbia College. The squad for this debate was chosen at the meeting last Thursday evening.

The individual debaters were ranked by the remainder of the squad on the basis of their delivery and rebuttal. Charles Schmitt was ranked first, with Edgar Norbert, second, and Marvin Leonard, third. The affirmative squad for the opening debate will be composed of Martin Leeseberg, Esther Wolff, and Edgar Norbert. The negative squad will be composed of Edwin Schick, Norman Orth, and Charles Schmitt.

One reminder of the squad who will see action during this season are Ray Kronberger, Barbara Leeseberg, Marvin Leonard, Richard Werth and Axlin Penmueller.

The schedule for the year is as follows:

Dec. 15—Columbia and Clark, there.

Jan. 6—Lenox, here.

Jan. 9—Duquesne, here.

Jan. 12-13, S. T. C. here (tent.)

Jan. 16-17, S. T. C. here (tent.)

Jan. 18—Luther, there.

Feb. 12—S. T. C. here (tent.)

In addition, arrangements are being made for a debate with Duquesne university. There is also a possibility of a home-and-home schedule with Central college.

The schedule given above will probably be added to in the near future. Plans are being made to debate as many schools as possible.

FORTRESS

Editorial and Business
Staffs Appointed.

Ruth Fritz, senior from Reptin, Saskatchewan, Canada, elected by her classmates as editor of the Waverly annual, announced her selection. She will be assisted by her assistants in assembling and compiling data, she chose Arthur Bracher, senior from Lenox, as town-chief of the Warburg Trumpet. Together they will supervise publication. Herbert Axlin, elected to the position of business manager, picked Norman O'Brien, senior from the finances.

Strength of a College

The strength of a college does not lie in a good football team or basketball team or hockey team. These are outward attractions which attract parents of scholars and other pleasure seekers and their pocketbooks. A very small percentage of students engage in athletics. The students are attracted by something of far greater value. The courses of study which prepare them for their profession in life are the most important factor. And behind these courses are the men and women, the faculty, who instruct and guide. A weak faculty means a weak course and that spells a weak school. A strong faculty makes a good school.

"Are you laughing at me?" demanded the irate professor of his class.

"No," came the answer in chorns.

"Well," insisted the professor, "what else is there in the world to laugh at?"

An eccentric professor, the cause of much laughing and joking, is a rather weak utensil. Professors need to remember they are not engaged to entertain but to teach, to educate, to lead out for and with their students.

Or take this other story: The dean of the faculty announced at the beginning of a faculty meeting: "I'm sorry that Professor _____ couldn't attend our meeting tonight. I'm sure we will miss his vacant face."

Too many professors grant their classes with "vacant" faces. A sense of cheerfulness, kindness, sympathetic consideration and understanding is lacking. How can a student staring into such a vacant face hour after hour find help in words which, no doubt, are just as empty?

These days great stress is placed upon the smaller colleges. University authorities tell us it is far better for students to attend a college with a smaller enrollment for their freshman and sophomore years. Why? Because the professors, if of the right caliber, can be of greater help to their students. God bless the faculty of Wartburg college.

The elbow grease as well as the wash tub played a prominent part during the more than 100 hours that Mathilde spent grinding the plex glass similar to that used by housewives, into the highly polished mirror, most important part of the instrument intended for observation of the heavens.

Early in the fall quarter of 1933, under the direction of Professor Cedric E. Rubin, department of physics and astronomy, Miss Bodenstedt began the highly complicated process of polishing the mirror by placing two pyrex discs, with cambrumium between them, on top of a pedestal in the circular filled washbowl. DO YOU REMEMBER?

This week we again present a basketball squad picture from the old cut files for your identification. Our last issue's squad cut was identified by Arthur Nickel as one of St. Paul-Luther's best teams.

Arthur Nickel, '37 Identifies Picture

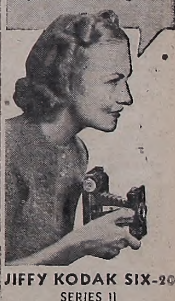

In response to a plea for identification of "Do You Remember" cuts, Arthur Nickel, class of 1937, now attending Wartburg Seminary at Davenport, identified the members of one of St. Paul-Luther's best basketball squads in the history of the school.

Those whom he identified were: Julius "Muddy" Roehl, Richard "Doc" Windemuth, Edward "Oscar" Reiff, Gerhard "Grossy" Hertz, Ernie Albertich, Rube Gustafson, and Arnold Marks in the foreground. Those in the back row were: Carl Graehmann, manager, Gerald Ferge, Emil Wenzel, Herbert Nordstrom, Sam Goldmann, Jack Adams, David Bruen, and Bruno Schaefer, Bruen and Coach Joe Bonstetter.

Martin Ackermann, another seminary student, also identified the players.

MINICK PROVES ENTERTAINING THURSDAY EVE

Players Open Year with Successful Production.

Presenting the largest cast ever to participate in a Waverly college production, the Warburg Players, directed by Prof. H. J. Klumpp, dramatized "Minick," a three-act comedy, at the Warburg auditorium Thursday evening, Dec. 1, at 8 o'clock. The play, written by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber, was well received by a large and enthusiastic audience.

The central plot depicts the heavy burden of youth versus age. Old man Minick, portrayed by A. C. Schumacher, comes to live with Fred and Nettie Minick, his son and daughter-in-law, played by Vernon Stremple and Ruth Fritz. The old man soon discovers that he is sadly out of place in his new environment, and complications arise.

Fred Thickens

The aged Minick first finds himself unable to cope with the intricacies of the modern social world. He does not understand why Fred and Nettie attend so many parties, have no children, and live a rather fast and unstable business enterprise, of which Nettie and Lil Corey, Jim's wife, played by Edna Moore, disapprove very much.

Secondly, Minick finds the modern business world rather incomprehensible as he stumbles upon the discovery that Fred and Jim Corey, Fred's business companion, played by Paulus Braulick, have begun a new and profitable business enterprise, of which Nettie and Lil Corey, Jim's wife, played by Edna Moore, disapprove very much.

Finally, old man Minick, facing the fact that he is an old man and realizing that he cannot cope with the problems of modern age, is persuaded by Mr. Dietricher and Mr. Pries, portrayed by Luther Meyer and Eugene Kuehl, to leave his home and leaves the hostile domain of his struggling offspring.

Another of Professor Klumpp's many fine productions will go down in history as a success. The entire cast displayed unusual ability throughout the entire production, and the stage crew deserves a special plaudit for its fine work.

A spectacular supporting cast included: Arthur Neumann in irrepressible jitters; Margie Reardon, a beautiful dame, but not so dumb; Ada Mae Little, a pretty colored maid, not beautiful; Marge Diamond, a beautiful, dignified and long-winded socialite; Eunice Lutz, a belligerent maid; and a little bit independent, and Martha Wilkens, Grace Jensen, and Carolyn Hotter, the pillars and posts of society.

Leon Hoff played a group of classical and modern piano solos before the play and between acts. Kenneth Nurnberg rendered a saxophone solo, accompanied by Mr. Hoff.

The cast, in order of their appearance consisted of the following characters: Lil Corey.....Eunice Gross; Nettie Minick.....Ruth Fritz; Anne.....Eunice Lutz; Jim Corey.....Paulus Braulick; Fred Minick.....Vernon Stremple; Old Man Minick A. C. Schumacher; Al Diamond.....Arthur Neumann; Marge Diamond.....Margie Reardon; Lula.....Ada Mae Little; Mr. Dietricher.....Luther Meyer; Mr. Pries.....Eugene Kuehl; Mrs. Smirbridge Martha Wilkens; Miss Grackewald.....Marie Dunn; Mrs. Lippmeyer.....Grace Jensen; Miss Slack.....Carolyn Hotter.

Thanksgiving Talk Given by Adam Graf

Adam Graf, senior, addressed a group of Public township Wednesday evening, Nov. 23, as they met with their parents in the Terry school, located seven miles north-east of Waverly, for a Thanksgiving program.

After comparing modern Thanksgiving celebrations with colonial festivities, Graf admonished his listeners to thank God for the blessings they have received and to celebrate this national holiday according to Christian principles.

Dr. Alfred Haefner Places Wood Carvings On Exhibit

Public Library Has Display of Plaque and Pencil Box.

Like many other great men, Dr. Haefner was once a boy with all boys' longings and desires. His boyhood hobbies finally, in the summer of '28 or '29, centered in wood carving. As is usual with budding artists he decided to use a lasting wood and selected oak. He found to his dismay, that seasoned oak wood was harder than the Bear Bowback knives that he had acquired.

In the summer of 1923 his parents went to Germany and in response to his request brought him a set of Zwilling knives. They were ten or twelve different knives but only two or three very often. Others are finishing knives for special work. The real fun of wood carving, according to Dr. Haefner, is in making the wood obey preconceived ideas of the carver.

Slow Work

In carving a typical design, as Dr. Haefner explained the process, the carver first has an idea of how the finished carving should look. Then he must draw a rough design on paper and transfer it to the wood block. Then he starts to cut and continues until the piece is finished. It takes approximately three weeks' spare time to finish a small article.

Dr. Haefner has on exhibit in the library of Waverly two examples of his work. One is a pencil box with the words "Waverly College" carved into the cover. The other is a plaque with a bas-relief of the profile of Dr. Martin Luther. Around the figure is carved the sentence, "Gottes Wort und Luthers Lehr," vergetet man und nimmermehr.

It is a great credit to Dr. Haefner to follow a hobby of this sort even though he is very busy with his work at the college.

CONFERENCE

Faculty Members Go to Midland for I. F. C.

Prof. J. Chellseyold was appointed to act as 1938 chairman of the mathematics division on the Eastern Faculty Conference at the fourth annual conference held at Midland College, Fremont, Neb., Nov. 25, 26, and 27. Prof. A. Swenson was general chairman of the entire science program at this meeting.

Former members of Waverly faculty, Prof. E. Sertel and Katherine Kaizer, were reported to be present, and Edwin Grosshans, former student and now teaching at Hebron Junior college, also attended the conference.

Speakers at the discussions included Dr. J. C. K. Pries and Dr. Karl Brann, the University of Minnesota; Dr. W. O. Dosscher of Columbus, Ohio; C. W. Stein, and Dr. A. L. Lugin of Lincoln, Neb.

Prof. H. Schaefer also was present at this meeting. Gustavus Acropolis college at St. Peter, Minn., was selected as the site of next year's conference.

Merits Praise

"De Knacht was cold, His hands were fire; Him wonders where his little girl is."

The Bremer County Independent, Wednesday, Nov. 23, called attention to the above "poem" in its column "On the Highway." It says: "This material from the 'Out of the Cliff' column of the Trumpet deserves inclusion in any collection of representative American collegiate verse."

Braulick Addresses Trumpet Reporters

President Braulick addressed the Trumpet staff at its bi-monthly meeting Tuesday, Nov. 22. He talked centered about the question "What Relation Has the Trumpet to the School?"

He stated that the student paper should be a cross section of the students' ideas and (break). He emphasized the fact that the school paper represents not only the students but also the school, church, and the general standpoint of the school. It is from the student paper that the public forms its opinion of the school. He closed his talk by commending and encouraging the staff on their fine work.

GRID LETTERS ARE AWARDED IN CONVOCAION

Seventeen Men Are Given Awards by Pres. Braulick.

Seventeen letters were awarded to the football men at convocation, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

The group was addressed by Coach Koeh of the Waverly high school. Coach Koeh related some of the amazing incidents of football during the year. He tried to impress upon the group that nothing was even won by simple winning for it, but that one had to fight all through life to win.

The co-captains for the 1939 season were announced, Norbert August and Johnny Emmens.

President Braulick presented the awards to the eligible men.

The awards were granted to the following men:

Without Franchising Senior.

Captain Fruehling started out in what would have been a great year, his football career at he had not fractured his wrist in the game with the Miners. He was a two-time man playing, tackle on offense and guard on defense.

Stanley Roessler, Senior.

Roessler was a reserve guard from South Dakota. He put in four years of service on the Warburg grid.

Robert Wagner, Senior.

He was a lucky blackback who played his first football game with Warburg at Hebron college.

Richard Wagner.

A sophomore end from Treynor, Iowa.

Waldemar Lander.

Lander is another sophomore from Leokan, Wis., who should make a powerful end next season.

Francis Richter.

Richter is a freshman from Montgomery, Minn., who has played a very strong game at a tackle this year.

Norbert August.

Rorbie is a big 200-pounder from Montgomery, Minn., who made a very strong bid for the All-Conference right tackle position. He is one of the newly-elected co-captains for the coming year.

Leslie Stanek.

Stanek is a sophomore who also came to Warburg from Montgomery, Minn., who played the second season in the Iowa Conference this season at the center post.

Ed Cramer.

Ed is a junior who came from Plymouth, Neb. Cramer is a very vicious and alert game at tackle.

Johnny Emmens.

Emmens is a junior from Nashua, Ia., whose putting throughout the season held off many a touchdown threat. He is the second of the two co-captains of the 1939 squad.

Red Kemite.

Kemite is a freshman from Arlington, Minn., who saw plenty of action this year. His play should make a good back.

Rudolf Langlois.

Langlois is another freshman from Wanda, Minn., whose great playing at the tackle position stops many plays through the line.

Wilbert Schte.

Nolt is a guard from Waverly, Ia., who will, with the other guards, make a strong bid at that position next year.

Don Cramer.

Don is a freshman from Allison, Iowa. Although he has no previous experience before coming to Warburg, he was able to earn a regular halfback post for himself.

Herbert Reichegger.

He is the only letter man from North Dakota.

Herbert Schomberg.

Herman is a big freshman from

The wintry blasts of late November and early December serve to turn the thoughts of sports-minded fans to other realms of endeavor. Chief of these new seasonal sports is basketball. Soon the "hard maps" shall resound to the dribbled sphere, the sharp thud of the backboard, and the frenzied cries of cage fans.

Warburg will soon be in the thick of this mad scramble. The Knights are on the threshold of their second year of Iowa conference competition. This season offers the Knights a chance to make or break as far as prestige in the Iowa loop is concerned. A good cage season can serve to brighten up the past grid season's rather gloomy results. Furthermore, the Knights have an enviable record to uphold with respect to basketball. Last year the Knights broke even in the percentage column of wins and losses—not a bad showing for their initial debut in the highly touted Corn State circuit.

As we approach the current cage season, let us join forces—students, players, and coach—in the determination to make this a grand and glorious basketball season. Warburg's greatest hopes for athletic glory he in this sport. More power to Coach McKinzie and his cagers!

Hard To Swallow

In planning the cage schedule, Coach McKinzie had a little difficulty that would serve to expedite the most placid of fans. It seems that the Norkies of Luther college at Des Moines have certain definite series about playing the Knights on their home floor. Last year the Knights obliged the Norkies by showing up to their camp for a tussle. The Knights never had a chance to average their defeat in this encounter since the Norkies refused to meet us in our own lair. It seems that our fans are just exactly to their liking. They claim that there is not sufficient clearance under the basket.

Well, that alibi worked last year, but it gets a bit hard to repeat. When "Mac" began to check up on the tentative schedule for the coming year, the authorities again refused to play us for the aforementioned reason. However, they were quite willing to schedule a game on their own home floor, in fact they were quite anxious for the same, in order to establish and maintain a feeling of good will between the two sister schools!

Perhaps our sym does not compare to the "Roman Arena" of the Normans, but I do not recall that anyone has ever suffered severe laceration or even castration as a result of the inadequate clearance under the backboard or any other possible cause in connection of the Iowa high school gym. After all, a school in the Iowa Conference must expect to play return games as well as home games.

New Grid Pilots Elected

The Knights of the gridiron made a wise choice when they chose Norbert August and Johnny Emmens as co-captains for the next year's grid season. Norbie has earned three grid letters while at Warburg, and has been the best player of the line this year.

Johnny has also earned three letters during his career on the Knight eleven. He has been hard-down a halfback post three years, his agile toe serving to pull the Knights out of a tough spot. Let's hope that these two stellar veterans will lead a rejuvenated 1939 grid squad to new heights of achievement.

Fresh Cage Prospects

Two freshmen have shown bright prospects of developing into a pair of good players. Don Beckner of Allison and Jimmie Miersom of Strawberry Point, show promise of rounding out into versatile cagers. Stanek and Miersom are in their respective prep schools. I can only wonder for Miersom and his possible becoming a varsity man since he is a half from his home town—it just seems to prove that a man can be good in spite of his environment. Although Opperman is a "young" yet we see that the mellowness effects of age and experience will gradually develop into a fine old-time Knight of the maple court.

No Runkeys?

As yet no definite announcement has been made in respect to the organization of a "B" team, known in the past as the Runkeys. I believe that such a team would be highly desirable for various reasons. First, it would serve to carry on the traditions of previous "B" teams. Secondly, their games with surrounding high schools and independent teams would make good preparation for the varsity games. Furthermore, playing with high school teams in good publicity and might result in interesting some high school athletes to enroll at Warburg in the fall. Last but not least, a "B" team would serve to give more players a chance to participate in basketball games. It would result in more interest in this sport, and chances for a better trained squad next year would be greatly potentiated.

For trained seasons, it would seem desirable to organize a "B" team with regular practice games at all possible levels. It is definitely organized "B" squad would be more desirable than a "B" team which would be organized to schedule games. More interest would be caused by the fact that the organized squad of Runkeys.

The Welsh Play Soccer

A few Warburg students enjoyed the spectacle of a good game of soccer last night. The hardy sons of the British Isles (Welshmen to you) did not seem to mind the cold, but they possessed athletic talent. Practically all of the boys who played might find exhibition of that ancient game of kick-em-back.

Norbie August, left, and Johnny Emmens, Warburg juniors, were elected by the football squad to lead the Knights 1939 grid mission. They have both line and backfield represented on the Orange and Black board of strategy.

KNIGHTS DRILL HARD FOR GAME WITH MINERS

Becker, Heist, Stave, Kappmeyer Chadwick in Lineup

Practice sessions for the Knights have been in full swing in preparation for their first game with the Miners from Platteville, Wis., Dec. 9, on the local high school floor.

Each Knights have played two practice games with the high school, winning the first game by a 14-0 score and losing the second by a 14-0 score. In both games, the Knights showed an extreme weakness in their passing game, constantly throwing the ball away. However, in the last game Coach McKinzie was encouraging out this weakness, and the team has shown marked improvement, giving indications of being a team worthy of representing Warburg.

Here is a short athletic history of each player who will see action next Tuesday night:

Captain Norman Becker—A junior at Warburg and winner of two varsity letters in basketball. He comes from Fond du Lac, Wis., where he received high school experience.

"Bill" Kappmeyer—A junior at Warburg and winner of two varsity letters in basketball. He hails from Oelwein where he received his prep school experience.

Marty Heist—A sophomore in school who has won one letter in varsity basketball and received his high school experience at Waverly.

Vivian Chadwick—A senior in school who has won one letter in varsity basketball and received his high school experience at Allison.

Stuart Opperman—A freshman at Warburg who comes from Allison where he had four years of experience.

Otto Stave—A sophomore at Warburg who has played four years in Warburg in former years when he was just a normal college.

Carl Kalkwarf—A senior at Warburg who has had previous high school experience and comes from Finnegan, Ill. He played on to play a little game of football with our team, but since our first equipment was lacking, that prospect was not possible. To the eyes of a prejudiced person, who has had no experience, it might be interpreted as an attempt to avenge the humiliation of Corn State's defeat in the 1938 season, as far-fetched as that.

KNIGHTS DRILL HARD FOR GAME WITH MINERS

Norbert August, guard on Knights eleven, and recently elected co-captain of the 1939 season, has been honored by the Associated Press in their selection of an All-Conference eleven. Norbert was given an honorary guard post on the All-Conference second team according to information recently released by that agency. Norbert is a carefully weaving of that distinction, having played a mighty fine brand of football this year. His fighting spirit and clean sportsmanship have made him a credit to Warburg's eleven.

the "B" team last year.

John Emmens—A junior at Warburg who has been a member of the reserve squad in basketball and received his high school experience at Nashua, Iowa.

"Dick" Warner—A senior at Warburg whose home is at Treynor, Iowa. He played on the reserve squad during his year.

James Miersom—A freshman at Warburg from Strawberry Point, Iowa, who has played three years of high school experience.

Tuesday's probable starting lineup:

Guards, Heist, Kappmeyer, center, Becker forwards, Chadwick and Stave.

W. A. A. Makes Plans for Girls' Basketball

Led by Vivian Gluck, high school center from last year's squad, the Knights' girls' basketball team are preparing to meet their first season. Definite plans will be made this afternoon at 3 p. m. when a business meeting of the W. A. A. and basketball practice will be held in the gymnasium.

Mrs. Ralph McKinzie will coach the girls' team. The squad of Miss Katherine Kaiser, who had charge for the past three seasons, is being made to schedule from 12 to 15 games with surrounding high schools. The girls' basketball team will include, Denver, Plainfield and Janesville.

Practices will be held three times a week on Monday and Saturday afternoon, and at one other period not yet determined. Returning veterans from last season's squad include Vivian Gluck, Eleanor Gross, Norma Neuhagen, Ada Mae Little, Betty Wieden, Garry Sixel, and Naomi Young. Points obtained during the last season's schedule will count toward a W. A. A. award.
